Q20 The Province of B.C.'s proposed legislation will prohibit cannabis smoking and vaping everywhere tobacco smoking and vaping are prohibited, as well as at playgrounds, sports fields, skate parks, and other places where children commonly gather. The City of Revelstoke's Clean Air Bylaw also regulates smoking and vaping by prohibiting such activity within a community facility, in a park, in a cemetery, in a motor vehicle owned or leased by the City, in a transit shelter and during a special event. Should consumption of cannabis be restricted from ALL public places including sidewalks, streets, greenspaces?

Let's limit locations and advertising please.	9/7/2018 8:32 AM
21	I feel it will be great to have access to cannabis stores in the area because it will deter residents from having to drive out to Salmon Arm to purchase cannabis. When people leave town weekly or bi weekly to make cannabis runs it leads to them buying groceries and other products at different locations. 50	I smoke. But I don't want to smell it everywhere. Treat it like alcohol in public places. Don't have storefronts that will be seen in high traffic children areas. Embrace production. It's a chance to create good tax revenue and jobs for the area. It's low key to the public.	9/4/2018 8:41 PM

54	It seems to me that in past experience, unlawful production/ sales will accompany "legal" operations. Over production, sales to minors, and continued black market activity will be common place. Control of additives, THC %, and all the things that can go wrong (unintended consequences) flagrant open use, in lift-lines on the hill for example, are things that are inevitable.	9/4/2018 4:52 PM
55	We as a society are not ready. We need as much education as there is around alcohol. Did I mention we need more education. It is going to come anyway lets get out there and educate our populace. THC is a drug that should be used as alcohol. ie not on our roads or public spaces or work places. Period...	9/4/2018 3:29 PM

59	When cannabis is smoked, it can be nauseating to some. It is quite unpleasant. I would appreciate seeing significant fines (enforced!) for smoking in public places. I am also deeply concerned about the odour in dwellings that are located close to each other including apartments, condos and townhouses. In my own home, I am already impacted by my neighbour's use of cannabis and it impacts my ability to have my windows open or use my own back yard when they are enjoying their cannabis recreation in their own backyard. I am not sure how to resolve this situation other than to comment that there impacts that must be considered.	9/4/2018 1:49 PM
60	We do not know the health impacts of the second hand smoke so smoking should be prohibited from all public areas and a bylaw officer should be hired.	9/4/2018 1:49 PM
61	Just have the same rules as alcohol use.	9/4/2018 12:18 PM
62	Sales should be permitted at farmers market... Fall harvest festival?	9/4/2018 10:39 AM
63	I don't think people who choose to not smoke cannabis should be exposed to the smoke or smell at any time, especially in their own back yard over a neighbour's fence or from a park and there should be staff employed by the city to enforce this.	9/4/2018 10:31 AM
64	The potential of commercial production may be the biggest challenge. On the one hand, it will be good to see an agricultural business develop, on the other hand we have so few hectares of existing agricultural land it would be a shame to see it all turn into cannabis production facilities. Perhaps keeping this in mind, we could determine that if someone wants to produce cannabis commercially on ALR land there must also be a component of local food production? Right now it's a challenge to produce local food on ALR land because it's a poor 'economy of scale' - growing weed commercially may be able to offset the higher cost of growing food & make it feasible to do both.	9/4/2018 9:59 AM
65	Keep it fair in regards to businesses starting up, ie. do not regulate and give preference to current liquor store businesses. The market will decide how many successful cannabis businesses Revelstoke can handle given we have a fluctuating population throughout the year.	9/3/2018 7:40 PM

70	Go slow with this; ensure RCMP are partners. Also, enforce the public area restrictions because the odour is very invasive and unpleasant to many.	9/2/2018 10:08 AM

71	I am very concerned about people walking around downtown vaping and smoking cannabis. Bylaws should be strictly enforced in the beginning at least until the dust settles. I am very very concerned about the number of impaired drivers this will see. I hope all the safety/education tools will be in place before legalization in Revelstoke happens.	9/2/2018 7:19 AM

73	I think it's about time Revelstoke gets a few dispensaries in town. We are isolated and it will be nice to be able to purchase safe marijuana from trusted sources.	9/1/2018 5:02 PM
74	Hopefully the City's role will include working closely with the RCMP to ensure that person(s) with ties to organized crime are excluded from operating a marijuana store and/or production facility, and that the storefronts don't become fronts for sales of illegal drugs.	9/1/2018 10:05 AM

76	Legalization of cannabis is a HUGE opportunity for our community. Let the market and towns people dictate its development, backed by a reasonable and sensibly guided policy by our municipality. Good shops, high (no pun intended) standards, will be backed by the community. The City should be willing to allow newcomers and first time business owners to open shops and pursue other opportunities. This town has a way of providing the old-boys club to carry-on while stifling new investment. (This isn't a knock at that old boys club, some of whom provide a great deal to our town but rather voicing the opinion to let cannabis legalization be what it is: a new frontier to be explored by brave business people.) Socially and culturally, I don't think the City of Revelstoke will need to be too heavy-handed in its policy decisions. The opportunity here is to reinforce positive education and learn from failed policy and culture related to alcohol. Canadian society had an uphill battle against alcohol for decades to fight for awareness about the dangers of drunk driving and alcoholism, not too mention the binge drinking culture so pervasive among teens. We can stop pretending Canadians don't consume cannabis and that it's effects are similar to alcohol; as a public, we know they aren't. What the City can and should do is promote the responsible use of it. Cannabis should have the same freedoms as alcohol - more if I'm being idealistic, but par is a good place to start. I view Revelstoke's population as a liberally conservative town. Accepting of being free to do as you want at home but more reserved in the public domain and so extending the same freedoms of alcohol to cannabis seems right, rather than an over-reach by the municipality.	9/1/2018 7:14 AM

It is already a huge underground market and being more open with the legalisation could help better educate adults and youth to understand why some people do it, especially as a health alternative instead of unnatural medicines that provide the same benefits.	8/30/2018 8:05 PM

123	I reckon these "issues" won't relate to the pure marijuana product but the value added products containing THC and CBD oils. ex) edibles and drinkables. The municipal gov't should recognize that there isn't a likely increase (statistically speaking) in marijuana users but in persons dabbling with cannabinoid products. It is well and truly known that the legality of marijuana is not holding users back from buying it, smoking or eating it. Legalization broadens peoples ability to access, yes, but accessing marijuana is not a hurdle for marijuana users. Access of value added products is the "issue". Thankyou	8/30/2018 8:01 AM

If someone else is drinking, it doesn't get me drunk. If I have to walk through clouds of cannabis smoke everywhere, I will glean some of the effects, however minimal. 211	the city should have taken a more pro-active approach to this. The legalization of cannabis has been in the works for a while now and the city is finally addressing the issue with less then a month and a half before legalization. In addition there are more stupid bylaws that are already not policed or enforced in this town and we're gonna make more? This going to take longer to process than the 45days days you've allowed. You're anticipating a high application number for potential businesses and yet you're just starting the process now. What are the implications for businesses and retail spaces not adhering to the proposed bylaws? Are you going to even acknowledge and take into consideration the results of this survey? I think that retail space for recreational cannabis is a great idea, but i believe the city will put up so many road blocks whether it be a building permit, a business licence, a sign bylaw... to prevent this from happening and miss out on the opportunity to gain and benefit from tax dollars that could then be used to improve city services like say the sewer? I think its time that council stop creating bylaws and start actually enforcing them. I personally believe that the city doesn't play a role in enforcing anything, cannabis or not. Take a working example from a community that is already operating dispensaries and follow their lead and use what works. Examples would be Nelson, Vernon, Kelowna. all of these communities have dispensaries where people can purchase cannabis. No, they aren't legal yet, but whatever model they are following is currently working for them, so reach out, ask questions and use what works!	8/28/2018 12:08 PM

261	While I prefer to let the market sort out the numbers, I do think more than one cannabis store should be allowed -- competition is healthy and ensures best quality and practice. If caps and limits are being put on the number of stores in town, I would really like to see cannabis store(s) that are owned and operated by people who are well-versed and knowledgeable in the industry, who can offer quality, safe product (proper QC, mold testing, storage, etc...), as well as experience and expert knowledge for those who seek to use it for health/medicinal purposes. There is such a wide range of usages depending on the strain, dosage, etc..., and many who will be using medicinally. To my knowledge there are currently no health care professionals/MD's in town who are well-versed in cannabis prescription, so I hope that priority will be given to those businesses who know the product well, have established history, and can advise their customers on safe usage. My concern is that many people are getting into the industry who simply see it as an investment opportunity and who may have the money, but not the experience. I hope that prior experience and knowledge is foremost considered (prescription/usage, risks/contraindications, handling/storage practices, QC practices etc...). Prior medicinal cannabis store-owning history would be preferable. In regards to fees, I hope that no significant additional fees are considered particular to cannabis stores-- we can't make it so expensive they can't afford to have well-priced product, and the cost of doing business in Revelstoke is already quite extreme. You won't get rid of the black market if prices are too high. It needs to be cheap and accessible. Lastly and most importantly, I think everyone should be able to grow plants outside in their yard if they so wish. Gardening is healthy, encourages people outside, and keeps people active. This may get people interested who otherwise weren't. People should have the option to grow their own rather than pay exorbitant prices at a store (or from a dealer) for something that is easier to grow than tomatoes. That way they can choose and have access to the strains they prefer, which may not be available from a local store. Smells are only a concern for a short period during flowering stages, and are no different than any other random yard smells that to some are delightful, and to others are offensive. Many who wish to grow will not be able to afford the cost of an indoor grow light system, the energy to run it year-round, or the additional free space in their household. The environmentally-friendly option is quite obviously to allow outdoor growing, though I feel people should have the option to grow either inside or out. I hope Revelstoke embraces the cannabis industry-- it has potential to bring a lot of money to this town and will be a tourist draw. I just hope the priorities are on experience and quality control to ensure the safety and enjoyment of our citizens and tourists.	8/28/2018 12:08 AM

263	Make sure the storefronts are subject to DP scrutiny: nothing will make Revelstoke look trashy like a collection of unprofessional cannabis storefronts. Resurrect the Sign and Facade design program to ensure this is the case. Do what you can to keep people's kids from having to avoid being "hot boxed" in public places. Production should be limited to industrial and agricultural zones, aside from residential production. Beyond that, let the market decide.	8/27/2018 11:46 PM

266	Add a 1-2 percent municipal tax to cover enforcement. I've visited 4 retail outlets in my city and I think a certain standard should be maintained...some shops are boutique-like and others are disgusting dumps. There's no scents of cannabis leaving the boutiques but the others reek. I think it's important for employees to have a wealth of information but at the same time shouldn't be high while working. Some stores also have small areas with tables to roll joints after cannabis purchases. I like seeing this rather than on the streets.	8/27/2018 11:23 PM
267	Land/building availability for residential, commercial, and industrial use as well as agricultural use is already very limiting to current and potential businesses. Permitting the production of cannabis in existing facilities or on land within the city of Revelstoke should be carefully evaluated. This issue is only going to increase as well. Cannabis agriculture has the potential to be a lucrative business that can easily outbid other business types while potentially providing fewer jobs "per square foot".	8/27/2018 11:13 PM

It may be beneficial to keep in mind that cannabis use often does not have many of the negative consequences of alcohol use when considering these rules. 313	Question 20, about where smoking is permitted. I hate walking down the street and being subjected to cigarette smoke, more than I would hate being subjected to marijuana smoke. However, I don't want to be put in a position where I'm essentially being forced to inhale either of those. I don't think that marijuana requires stronger restriction than cigarettes, but I don't want to be impacted by the smell or smoke of either of them in a public place. So which ever restrictions are put on marijuana smoke, cigarette smoke should have the same. I don't have children, but if I did, I wouldn't want cigarette smoking to be permitted "where children commonly gather", nor marijuana. Those are public and shared spaces, and should be enjoyed freely.	8/27/2018 5:27 PM

350	A community collaboration (or free market) where people can test their cannabis for their CBD profiles will be beneficial. This would come at a cost to the consumer. 365	My biggest concern is odour. I have three young kids, and while we were in Vancouver over the summer at English Bay, everyone was smoking weed. It was strong enough that I thought my kids might be affected, plus that's all we could smell for 2 hours, while trying to enjoy the beautiful beach & weather. Drinking doesn't affect people around you (unless you're belligerent), smoke does. Plus, a lot of people are proud of the smoke they're producing, and feel the need to share with everyone around them. I really don't have an issues with weed, used to smoke it myself all the time, but I really don't want to be smelling it everywhere I go.
